VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN IS FITTINGLY INTRODUCED

On Sunday last meetings were held at Bellevue, Blairstone and Coleman in the interest of the eighth Victory Loan campaign starting on Monday of this week. At Blairstone the attendance was not as large as was expected on account of unpleasant weather, but nevertheless the programme was carried out in full.

The flag-raising ceremony opened at Bellevue at 10 a.m., with band in attendance, and at 4 p.m. a free picture show was staged at Cole's theatre, at which SL D. Reeve Walker, DFC and bar, and others were speakers.

At the Blairstone bandstand at 2 p.m. the ceremony was opened by Mr. Chappell, when speaker SL Walker, Mayor E. Williams and others were introduced following the flag raising. During the service several selections were rendered by the Blairstone male voice choir. This was followed by a free show at the Orpheum theatre.

Reeve Walker again appeared at the Palace theatre in Coleman, and was well received.

STANLEY WYATT

OUR LEADER

OUR CANDIDATE...

The Progressive Conserva-

- of the -

Federal Riding of Macleod

Alberta

PRESENTS A REVIEW

... of their Candidate's Record ..

JOHN BRACKEN

STANLEY WYATT

In voting for STANLEY WYATT in the coming Dominion election you will be supporting a man who has resided in your riding for Forty-Three years, farming his original homestead at Claresholm along with his other land.

He came to Alberta as a young man alone, and earned his first money working on ranches at Pincher Creek and with the Canadian Pacific Railroad, helping to build the railway through the Frank Slide.

Who, besides making a success of his farm and ranch business, has given freely of his time as Rural Councillor of Clear Lake Municipality, as a member of the Claresholm Municipal Hospital Board, and while continuing to farm his land adjoining the Town of Claresholm, served six years as Mayor of the Town.

During his term of office as Mayor, which happened to be at the most difficult time of the depression, he gave the Town splendid administration and also reduced taxes every year he was in office.

As a rancher, Mr. Wyatt has had notable success. He has encouraged the auction method of the sale of beef cattle and is a Director of the Community Auction Sales, a co-operative cattle selling agency of Southern Alberta, believing it's method of selling to be of benefit to the small producer. He is also a Director of the Western Stock Growers, a member of the United Farmers of Alberta and of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Our candidate is sympathetic towards Labor. His long record of friendship and assistance toward his hired help proves this to be true.

Mr. Wyatt believes that the civil re-establishment of the men in our fighting forces is perhaps Canada's greatest legislative problem. These men deserve the most generous and sympathetic treatment, and the Progressive Conservative Party, under the leadership of Mr. Bracken, who has three sons in the war, has already committed itself to see that no deserving fighting man can ever say that Canada failed him when the war is over.

Stanley Wyatt is a worker for the public good. His energy, ability and knowledge of this riding entitles him to your consideration in the next Dominion Election.

G. Rider Davis, President

Canada's Export Trade

THE PROSPECTS FOR WORLD TRADE in the years following the war are of interest to many nations at the present time. There are some who fear that there will be an immediate return to conditions of unfriendly rivalry and "cut throat" competition such as existed in the past, and which without doubt were among the causes which led up to the Second World War. There is good reason to hope, however, that recommendations made at the Dunbarton Oaks Conference, and the principles laid down in the Atlantic Charter, will be taken into consideration when international trade relations are again established on a peace-time basis, and that the mistakes of the past will not be repeated. On the success of this undertaking will depend the economic well being of millions of people, and in a large measure, the hope for permanent world peace.

New Markets In The Future

As a result of wartime industrial expansion Canada is now one of the world's greatest producing nations, and as such, has a vital interest in the future of international trade. Obviously there will be a great demand for some time to come in Great Britain and Europe for food and other Canadian products. It is also expected that there will be equally extensive markets for our goods in the Orient and in South America. In order to successfully maintain these markets, however, Canadian economists point out that it will be necessary for us to produce goods which are acceptable on foreign markets. They also warn that if we hope to export on a large scale, we must be prepared to import, especially from those countries whose financial resources have been seriously depleted during the war, and who will be adverse to building up large unfavourable trade balances in the future.

Producers Must Work Together

The question of increasing our imports is an involved one, bringing up such subjects as large scale immigration and other methods of creating more buying power here. Less complicated is the problem of producing goods acceptable to those countries who are our customers. In this connection, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, recently appealed to Canadian farmers to place their production to the needs of Britain in mind, since that country now constitutes a large and important market for Canadian food products. Dr. Barton's appeal for the farmers to take measures to increase livestock production to meet the needs of Britain in this, and succeeding years, is an example of how Canadian producers may work together to keep our export trade at a high level, and thus benefit themselves and the nation as a whole.

Cause Of Shortages

Due To Greater Demand And Decreased Production Of Goods

Last year Canada produced 9,000,000 pairs of children's shoes, as compared with 5,000,000 in 1939, and children's underwear production was 43 per cent. higher than before the war, "and production cannot be further increased at present." These facts were pointed out at a recent meeting of the Toronto Consumer Branch Committee liaison officers in W.P.T.O. offices.

Reason for shortages in these and other commodities, they explained, is increased consumer demand for certain things and distribution difficulties—people have more money to buy better shoes for their children, for instance, and busy war-working mothers have less time to make, patch and mend their underwear.

The climate on the Pacific coast has a great effect on the cotton shortage as uniforms "just rot and have to be replaced at a tremendous rate," stated Mrs. Dallimore, speaking of shortages in general.

Looking at the overall picture and taking into consideration Canada's "magificent war contribution" this country had few shortages, she said.

Speaking of the changed attitude of the Canadian people in regard to rationing, now compared with early days she said the W.P.T.O. considered this is due largely to the concerted action of its women representatives.

"You women have taught people that it is not smart to go and spend money recklessly, to chisel the extra pound of butter," she said. Butter rationing almost broke down at one point because of this petty chiselling.

Japanese Admirals Thought Would Bring Them Some Applause

It is said to have been the Japanese admirals particularly the Japanese admiral who influenced the government to embark on the war with the British Empire in the United States. The army had been winning applause while the navy was more or less in the background. So, the navy wanted an outlet.

The rivalry between the two services is of long standing. Both services were interested in the expansion of the Japanese sphere of influence. They only differed as to the means.

The army thought Japan's future lay on the Asiatic mainland—in Korea, Manchuria, China proper.

The navy looked farther afield—to the Dutch East Indies and Malaya.

The army, within a dozen years, had succeeded in creating two islands—the Mukden Incident in 1931 and the Marco Polo Bridge Incident of 1937—which had resulted in the addition of large areas of territory to the empire. The navy was hungry for "banzais" and Pearl Harbor was its bid for them.

The Japanese admirals were behind the war, but what a price they have paid for their ambition! According to the Tokyo radio, two more of them have met death in action.

This brings to 94 the number of Japanese admirals who have lost their lives since Pearl Harbor—Vancouver Daily Province.

The Monetary Symbol

Is No Good When People Lose Confidence In It

The only reason a farmer accepts a dollar bill for his bushel of wheat is that he has confidence that somebody else will accept the dollar bill for something the farmer wants to buy. If he lost confidence in the dollar bill he would just keep his wheat until he could trade it straight across the counter for what he wanted.

Those who talk glibly about issuing money promiscuously forget what happens when people lose faith in the monetary symbol.—Brandon Sun.

Driving In Fog Could Be Made Safer For Motorists

British automobile manufacturers are experimenting with equipment which would enable automobile drivers to "see" in fog and know whether traffic lights are against them long before they are reached. Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the industry's public relations committee has been talking about the automobile of the future.

"Safe driving even when it is impossible to see the road is indeed a possibility," he said. "Curb beacons, operating in conjunction with receiving sets on dashboards, will guide drivers in fog." This would mean that motorists would be employing the blind landing technique used to bring planes onto an airfield in the dark.—Brandon Sun.

The British Army

No Fewer Troops Ever Battled In A Better Cause

If success is the test, there can be no question that Janes' Guide claims that our army has equipped "as no British army has ever been equipped before." He quoted some observations of Field Marshal Montgomery about the superiority of our tanks over those of the enemy, which will convince everybody except, perhaps one or two critics who are impervious to persuasion however authoritative the evidence against them. When the Field Marshal says that if Rundstedt had been equipped with British tanks on December 18 he would have reached the Meuse in 36 hours, and that if the 21st Army Group had been equipped with German tanks they could not have reached the Seine in 36 hours, that must settle the argument for all reasonable people. Whether he is in equipment, or in training, or in spirit no finer army ever battled in a better cause than the British Army today.—London Daily Telegraph.

"Yes, mushrooms," said the condemned man. "I've always been scared to try them in case I'd be poisoned."

New Model Planes

Munitions Minister Says Production Will Be Continued In Canada

Manufacture of a four-engine bomber, larger than the Lancaster, will start at Victory Aircraft, Government-owned Malton, Ont., plant, Munitions Minister Howe announced in the Commons.

Mr. Howe did not disclose the exact type of plane, but he said during 1945 the Malton plant would shift from Lancaster production to that of the new and larger plane which he referred to as the Lincoln.

(It was recalled that in London it was recently announced that Britain had started work on a new four-engine plane comparable to the American Superfortress.)

Mr. Howe also disclosed that an improved model Mosquito bomber would come into production during the year, and that output of the Curtis dive bomber would continue at its present rate. There also would be continued production of the Harvard, a secondary trainer, and the Norseman, used as transport plane.

Rebuilding Of Europe Will Be Difficult Task

LONDON.—Sir Arthur Salter, with the backing of the London Times, has called for a supreme reconstruction council of great powers to plan and co-ordinate the work of salvaging and restoring a shattered continent.

The famous economist, who was general secretary of the supreme economic council, formed after the last war, urges that the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia should be the first and permanent members. But he also urges a place for Canada in view of her present position on a number of combined boards.

Behind the Salter proposal lies the conviction that whereas in 1918 there was "a continent substantially intact with some patches of devastation," today we face the problem of "a devastated continent without some oases." As the London Times puts it, "There is certainly hope in the fact that a supreme economic council was set up after the last war, when the devastation was mainly confined to 10 French departments, and that there is no corresponding body now when so much of Europe lies in ruins."

It is true that UNRRA is functioning—after long delays and under great strain—but its mission is confined to relief and "rehabilitation" with reconstruction specifically ruled out.

"Private enterprise by itself," says Sir Arthur Salter, "cannot possibly suffice, nor even piecemeal help by the separate Allied governments. Liberated countries will not always be able to raise enough foreign loans to buy what they need nor, even if they had the money, could they be required to supply without the active assistance of the remaining Allied governments. For the general world shortage of supplies will necessitate a continuance both of national controls and of combined controls, such as are at present co-ordinated through the Anglo-American command board."

Sir Arthur Salter points out that the major supply policy until now has been determined largely by the combined chiefs of staff. But "when fighting stops, military necessity becomes military convenience, and over that, civilian necessity, should have priority, which the present system is not adapted to give it."

What is needed, therefore, is some sort of economic high command for the period of transition. This could, it is envisaged by Sir Arthur Salter, "be built from a general reconstruction policy of supplying governments. It should utilize and instruct existing bodies and combined boards and decide what assistance should be given by them to UNRRA. It should be in a position to issue or secure immediate instructions to appropriate military authorities as to any help required from them for example, in furnishing military stores and motor transport and the transfer to UNRRA of personnel who have acquired experience in relief work during the period of military responsibility."

ALREADY AT WORK

Soviet Is Using Germans To Rebuild War-Wrecked Cities

WASHINGTON.—Soviet policy declarations calling for transportation of Germans into Russia to help clean up and rebuild war-wrecked cities already have been put into effect in the Balkans, it was learned.

Diplomatic information reaching Washington has disclosed that:

1. About 70,000 men and women of the 500,000 Germans in Romania—where they fought with and supported the Nazi armies—have been removed to the Soviet Union.

2. An estimated 100,000 Germans have been removed from Yugoslavia. Presumably they were sent into Russia, Marshal Tito handled the operation himself and refrained from reporting on it to his western allies.

3. Another 40,000 persons, who originally lived in Bessarabia, now Russia, have been sent back to that former Romanian province from Romania.

There have been some signs that able-bodied Germans were being moved out of Hungary, but little information has come through on that. Bulgaria had little German population to begin with, and the Russians ran into no problem there in that regard.

There is no doubt among diplomats here that Russia intends to use such manpower as they find desirable.

The subject came up at Yalta but evidently without agreement. Nor is it generally known here how many Germans Russia would like to import.

Trade Training In Army Should Be Fully Used

OTTAWA.—Labor Minister Mitchell announced a royal commission has been selected to investigate and report on possible arrangements with the provinces, employers and trade unions to make full use of trade training received by men in the armed forces.

Col. Wilfrid Bouye of Montreal, chairman of the Canadian Legion's committee on education, has been asked to act as chairman.

Other persons asked to become members are D. S. Lyons, general vice-president, International Association of Machinists, Montreal; F. S. Rutherford, director of vocational education, Toronto; J. C. G. Herwig, general secretary of the Canadian Legion, Ottawa; F. S. Smeltz, regional director of national selective service, Vancouver, and Hector Dupuis, regional director of national selective service, Montreal.

The order-in-council appointing the commission, passed on the recommendation of Mr. Mitchell with the concurrence of Veterans Minister Mackenzie, sets forth the responsibilities as follows:

"To examine into the problems involved and appropriate measures which may be taken to enable members of the armed forces to obtain appropriate credit in re-entering civilian occupations upon discharge, for trades, technical or other educational training or experience gained while in the armed forces and to report to the minister of labor thereon together with their recommendations as to what measures are advisable and appropriate in co-operation with the provinces, employers, or trade and labor organizations or otherwise to this end."

Comments on the commission, Mr. Mitchell said:

"Due to the highly-specialized duties of the armed forces in this mechanized war, a great deal of trade and vocational training has been acquired by the men and women in the forces. It would be a definite loss to the forces if upon re-entering industry and in many cases a tragedy to the individual if upon re-entering industry proper account were not taken of this vocational training while in the armed forces."

EATING LESS MEAT

VANCOUVER.—F. W. Mantle of Ottawa, prices board information branch official, said in an interview here that Canadians have been eating less meat since rationing ended. He said people now buy only what meat they need while in rationing days they made certain all their coupons were used up.

German People Are Now Using Up Food Stocks

OTTAWA.—Greatest problem that is already beginning to confront the Allies now in northern and central Germany is to prevent German civilians from "eating themselves into starvation," according to Col. R. (Dick) Malone, formerly of the Regina Leader-Post, now Canadian army public relations officer for northwest Europe. In a lengthy interview in his old haunts of the press gallery here, Col. Malone told many interesting "off the records" incidents of the British-Canadian campaign in northwest Europe.

The outstanding of Col. Malone's "on the record" statements was his emphatic declaration that the civilian population of Germany is headed for starvation.

Our officers in command are trying to do everything possible to power to cajole and command the German farmers to get back on their land. In the first towns we overran in western Germany," said Col. Malone, "we found the Germans had stocked themselves up with stores of food and were eating well. But they are now eating all their reserves which they had got from the Ukraine; from Belgium, Holland and France, and they of course can get no more from those sources. But we are finding it difficult to get them out on the land."

Col. Malone said the civilian farming population would go out for a few days on the land and work in a sort of a dazed fashion and then drift back to the internment camps and so on. Replying to numerous questions, Col. Malone said it was difficult to explain exactly the frame of mind of these civilians. In some cases they were frightened of our troops but mostly they just seemed dazed and without any idea of how to go about farm production.

Col. Malone said that even with restoration of farming, distribution would be impossible, for a long period. Transport has broken down and it would at the best be eight months to a year before any orderly distribution of food in Germany could be accomplished.

WILL NOT WAIT

Canada And Sweden Adopting International Air Services Transit Agreement

OTTAWA.—Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced the Canadian and Swedish governments have agreed to bring into force immediately, as between themselves, the international air services transit agreement without waiting for it to become generally effective.

Under the pact, commonly known as the Two Freedoms agreement, the two countries give to each other these two freedoms of air—the privilege of flying across its territory without landing and the privilege of landing for non-traditional purposes.

WAR IN PACIFIC

Allied Service Leaders Find Fighting Will Be Prolonged

MELBOURNE, Australia.—Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, deputy commander in the southwest Pacific, has discounted any suggestion that the Pacific war might end soon.

"I have not heard that view expressed by any Allied service leader in possession of all the knowledge available to us," Gen. Blamey declared. "Rather, it is felt we must face up to the probability of sustaining campaigning and heavy fighting for an unpredictable period."

Col. Malone said that even with restoration of farming, distribution would be impossible, for a long period. Transport has broken down and it would at the best be eight months to a year before any orderly distribution of food in Germany could be accomplished.

Payment For Marketed Oats Is Increased

OTTAWA.—Producers in the West who marketed oats during the crop year ended July 31, 1944, will receive an additional $8,867,004 from the oats equalization fund, Trade Minister MacKinnon announced.

This will represent a payment of 5.849 cents per bushel on oats marketed during the crop year. The payment will be made on 151,506,325 bushels, which includes 5,241,613 bushels transferred from farm-to-farm or farm-to-feeders and upon which advance equalization payments were made.

Mr. MacKinnon said that during the crop year ended last July 31, oats equalization fees collected by the board amounted to $23,912,449. Advance equalization payments amounted to $15,159,686. After allowing for interest on funds collected through equalization fees and after providing for administrative costs and payment expenses, the balance available for distribution is $8,867,004.

Growers' cheques now are being completed and will be ready for distribution early in May, the announcement said. All cheques will be forwarded to country elevator agents for distribution to producers.

When this payment is completed, producers marketing oats in the crop year 1943-44 will have received 10 cents per bushel in advance equalization payments, and a final payment of 5.894 cents per bushel or a total payment from the oats equalization fund of 15.849 cents per bushel.

The barley equalization fund had a deficit of $2,680,934 as at July 31, 1944. The statement said there will therefore be no further payment out of the barley equalization fund. The advance equalization payment on barley during the crop year 1943-44 was 15 cents per bushel marketed.

Equalization fees collected on barley exported from Canada totalled $11,706,937, and advance equalization payments amounted to $13,758,246. Large quantities of barley were required for feed purposes in Canada and consequently the supply available for export was limited.

The oats and barley equalization funds were first established April 1, 1943, and the proceeds on the equalization funds as at July 31, 1943, were subsequently distributed to producers who marketed oats and barley during the final four months of the crop year 1942-43.

Former Premier Supports Yalta Decision About Polish Government

LONDON.—Poland's peasant-born former premier, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, has agreed formally to the principle that a new provisional government of national unity must be formed in accord with the Yalta declaration.

"I consider close and lasting friendship with Russia a keystone of future Polish policy," he said. "To remove all doubts as to my attitude I wish to declare that I accept the Crimean decision in regard to the future of Poland."

Mikolajczyk left the Polish government in London in disappointment over its refusal to agree to his plans for reaching an accord with the Soviet Union and the Lublin committee of national liberation.

ADMIT INABILITY

German Government Cannot Function Normally In Exchanging War Prisoners

LONDON.—The foreign office and war office disclosed that the German government had acknowledged its inability to function normally as a power under international conventions governing the exchange of war prisoners.

An announcement said the German government had informed the British government through the protecting power, Switzerland, that it could not undertake further exchange of seriously sick and wounded prisoners of war under the Geneva prisoners of war convention "until two months after completion of necessary arrangements."

TWO VICTORY LOAN CALLERS
ARE AT YOUR DOOR APPEALING

Again comes the knock at the door of the Canadian home. On the threshold stands the Victory Loan salesman, confidently expecting an invitation to come in. It is the eighth time he has knocked at the door, and his confidence will not be badly founded, for more than three million Canadians have long since learned that he is indeed a friend and brings with him something of real value for the household. The Victory Bonds he offers are now visualized everywhere as instruments to guide individuals towards a more secure post-war situation.

But let us not forget that there are two callers at the door when the salesman knocks. Behind him, in spirit, is the Canadian boy in uniform, who is backing up the salesman in his effort to increase the size of individual Victory Bond purchases, not so much because of his concern for the future material benefits to the purchaser, but because those purchases help to guarantee the continued flow of arms and ammunition to the battlefronts.

The Canadian who decides to buy a hundred dollar Bond after listening to the Victory Loan salesman may change his mind if he looks over the shoulder of the salesman into the eyes of that sailor, soldier or airman who counts on folks at home to back up his efforts overseas. Such a look may prompt a two hundred dollar purchase.

"V" GOOD CITIZENSHIP

The home front has an important battle to win; it is the Victory Loan campaign. Victory loans provide the sinews of war. The obligation is strictly up to every individual to "dig down" to the last copper to see that every last piece of equipment is provided to the lads overseas from the dollars that are available here in Canada.

Victory loan campaigns are a wartime activity into which any citizen should throw every last degree of energy without considering the political implications of his action. Victory loan bonds represent the common means by which all can harvest, in practical fashion, the inner prayer and wish for victory.

The Victory loan campaign is sponsored by our government—our government until a new one is elected—and no effort should be shirked or evaded because of political considerations. The election date comes later, and any antipathy to the government should be expressed then, and not before, particularly in response to the Victory loan appeal.

There can be no let down in our efforts on the home front. The prize is too great, and, in view of the superb organization and the human lives at stake, let no one on the home front do less than the last best effort.

In that last fragile moment of reaching for victory, let it not be said that anyone on the home front faltered or failed.

STUDY OF FOSSIL SPORES
AIDS THE COAL MINER

The study of fossils contained in beds of coal has long been used as a means of helping the coal miner to predict the extent of his coal beds, as well as to discover beds of coal buried deep in the ground, that do not outcrop at the surface. The leading exponent of this art in Canada, Dr. W. A. Bell, of the Geological Survey, Ottawa, presented an important paper last week to the annual conference of the Canadian Institute of Mining & Metallurgy in Quebec, entitled "Use of fossil plants in the coal geology of Eastern Canada."

One of the difficulties in the study of fossils is the fact that most of the remains, particularly of plants, are mere fragments and therefore are not easy to identify. An appreciable part of most coal seams is made up, however, of the spores or seeds of plants, each of which is a complete individual and many of which are preserved perfectly. A study of these spores under the microscope presents, therefore, a simple and thorough means of identifying the plants from which they came, and the relative abundance of the various kinds of spores in the coal indicates the nature of the forest or swamp growth from which the coal was derived.

From his study of the fossils in the coal measures of the Maritimes Provinces, Dr. Bell has been able to reconstruct the nature of the land in those far-off times, many millions of years ago. The coal was deposited in swampy valleys with mountain ranges on both sides. While there was a lush growth of vegetation in the lowlands, the hillsides were bare, for the trees and plants that cover our uplands today had not yet been evolved. The bare hillsides presented perfect conditions for denudation, and an immense amount of gravel, sand and silt was deposited from the uplands and along the shores of the lakes and seas. This explains the great thickness of the conglomerate, sandstone and shale rocks associated with the beds of coal in the Maritimes.

SUGAR FOR CANNING

For tasty, nourishing and economical winter desserts, most Canadian housewives will again do some preserving this year... jams, jellies and all kinds of fresh fruits.

Sugar is still very scarce. We must continue to conserve our supplies.

This year, the allowance for home canning will be the same as in 1944—ten pounds per person. Be sure to use your ration sparingly.

HOW TO GET SUGAR FOR CANNING

Instead of special home canning sugar coupons, twenty extra preserves coupons in Ration Book No 5 are being made available for the purchase of sugar for canning.

These coupons are good for half a pound of sugar each or the stated value in commercial preserves, for they are the same as any of your preserves coupons.

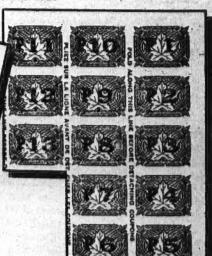

You may use any other valid preserves coupons to purchase sugar, also at half a pound each.

No exchange is necessary. Your grocer will accept any valid preserves coupons when you purchase sugar for canning.

There are now only two kinds of coupons for sugar. The regular sugar coupon, good for one pound of sugar, and the preserves coupons, worth half a pound of sugar.

SUGAR FOR CANNING COUPON CALENDAR

USE ONLY AS REQUIRED

The twenty extra preserves coupons for sugar for canning will remain valid until declared invalid by the Ration Administration. You do not have to use them immediately. You will be given plenty of notice of their expiry date.

GUARD YOUR RATION BOOK

If you lose your ration book, the extra preserves coupons which have already been declared valid will not be replaced. It is up to each consumer to look after his or her ration book.

THEY'RE COMING BACK

Five years ago the call went forth
To fight a cruel foe.
Our men responded nobly—
From all parts they did go.

With nerves all racked and shattered,
Limbs wounded, some are gone;
We do not know the agony.
Our men and boys have borne.
—And now they're coming back.

Are we prepared to meet them?
Have we done all we might
To cheer and help the loved ones
They left to go and fight?

—For now they're coming back.
But there are some that never
Will return to us again;
So let us help the loved ones
Of those dear boys and men.

—For they're not coming back.
A reckoning day is coming.
We'll have to face it then—
See to it that we do our best

For our noble boys and men

Cannot Be Believed

That 70,000,000 Germans Were Slaves Of Few Thousand Nazis

This is the time when it is important for all of us to understand fully that there is no noticeable distinction between a Nazi and a German.

Some thoughtless people, and some not so thoughtless, either carelessly or deliberately have implied that all this has come about because a comparatively few evil-minded men calling themselves Nazis had seized control of the German state. That the German Government and the Hitlerites really did not represent the masses of the German people.

We were to suppose, that is, that 70,000,000 kind, gentle, peace-loving Germans were slaves of a few thousand official members of the Nazi party and their secret police. Anybody who can believe that can believe anything.

In the last bloody stages of the war with Germany reeling towards utter catastrophe, there was not a sign in all the confusion and breakdown of central authority, of any important anti-Nazi feeling within the Reich. The German army could have overthrown the Nazi system in an hour if it wished—but it did nothing.

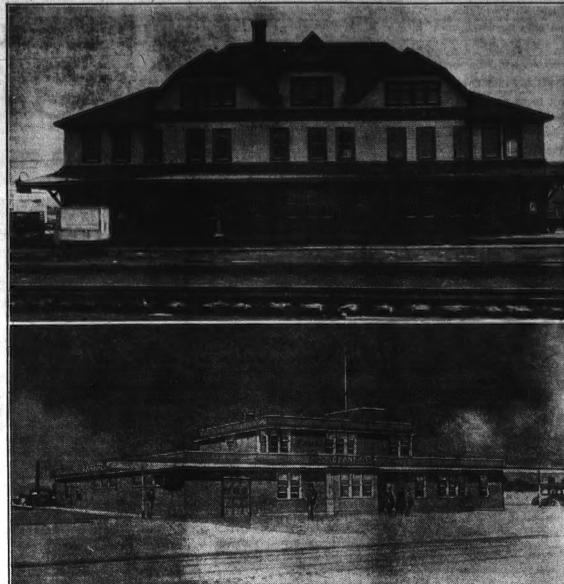

The German citizens having nothing to lose could have risen in their might, but like docile sheep, they continued the hapless war.

We are compelled to the conclusion that the German people have had, in Hitler, the government they wanted and deserved. To suggest that only the Nazis are bad Germans, that only Nazis have been guilty of human crimes, is to swallow the propaganda which a beaten Germany and its friends will try to spread—Ottawa Journal.

Radio Pool Discussed

Conference in London Outlined Plans To Benefit British Commonwealth

The rough outlines of a post-war scheme for pooling news and entertainment programs, staff and technical information among the United Kingdom, the Dominions and India was drafted at the Commonwealth broadcasting conference in London. "This was a family gathering at which general principles were discussed," said Howard Chase of Montreal, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. "Details will be worked out later by each national radio organization and it is impossible to give details on such matters as the type of radio in the fullest possible manner for the benefit of the British Commonwealth as a whole."

The conference unanimously agreed that the wartime co-operation of Commonwealth radio services should be "continued and developed to the fullest possible extent," said W. J. Haley, CBC director-general in a formal statement to the press.

Save Handy Jars

Many Uses Have Been Found For Empty Containers

Since suitable containers have shrunk so in supply with the war, it's a wise woman who knows the trick of converting those she has from one job to another. Large cold cream jars, for instance, make ideal containers for small jellies. Glass marmalade jars, with the addition of an enamelled lid, make dainty containers for bath salts. Also, you'll find the man-of-the-house grateful for the odd glass container to hold nails, screws, etc., as these can be more readily identified than when hidden in a can or paper bag. Before converting the jar or bottle, however, it is a good idea to trace or mark or dried-in food particles. First, wash it thoroughly in hot water and grease-dissolving suds. Then, to remove food or perfume odors, add 3 to 4 tablespoons of vinegar to your rinsing water.

SETTLEMENT AND STRUGGLES IN CANAAN

Memory Selection: Be strong and of good courage; be not affrighted, neither let thy heart dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee wheresoever thou goest. Joshua 1:9.
Lesson: Joshua 1:23-24; Judges 1:1-3; 6:7; 21:25; Ruth 1:1-2:23.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 37:1-11.

The Lesson Outline

The Death of Moses a Challenge Moses had brought the Israelites to the land of Moab "near the Jordan's wave, within sight of Canaan, and there he died." "The people faced a crisis," writes Carson Blake. "Scoffers were numerous and faint faith with God. Others wanted to turn back to the desert. But Joshua accepted God's challenge to leadership. In Moses' place he led the people across the river to the Promised Land.

Under Joshua's Leadership Moses had brought the Israelites to the land of Moab "on this side of Jordan's wave" within sight of Canaan, and there the wandering ended. Joshua took up the great leader's task, and the conquest of the Promised Land began.

The Book of Joshua gives an orderly account of the crossing of the Jordan and the partial conquest of the country of Canaan. Moses and Caleb were the only Hebrews who left Egypt who lived to enter the Promised Land; all the others were of a new generation. Joshua was Moses' helper and the people approved his choice as Moses' successor. "All that thou commandest us we will do," said the people. "We will go where thou leadest us. We will go where thou bid us go, for we know that thou art God to lead us into Canaan."

Joshua went forward courageously, for he felt assured of God's presence with him: "As I was with Moses, so shall I be with thee. I will not fail thee." If banquet must be held in wartime, they could be put to poorer uses. Have been put to poorer uses on occasion. This six-year-old Holstein had "just established a world's record" for butter production for a 365-day period.

Banquets are sometimes held for people who break no records, who contribute little to human needs, who, in fact, the stinkiest kind of "stufff-shit". But this Alberta cow has done something. She stands out to us simply as one of the military heroes of faith. In depth, in breadth, in endurance, she stands way ahead of any that of Abraham or Moses. The one conviction that dominated him was that he was called by God to his work."

"A religious warrior is a peculiar character," observes Dr. W. G. Blaikie. He maintains that this is his belief. Joshua testifies that God is a covenant of faithfulness. God is a God of promises. He told them, 'all that Jehovah your God hath done unto all these nations because of you; for Jehovah your God, he it is that hath fought for you.'

Canadian S.S. "Prince Henry" Now Serving With The Royal Navy

The "Prince Henry," which has been turned over to the Royal Navy for service against the Japanese, was once the flagship of the Canadian National Steamships fleet carrying thousands of tourists along the Pacific Coast to Alaska. Built in Birkenhead, England, she was launched in 1930, christened by Miss Isabel Macdonald, daughter of Ramsay Macdonald, then Prime Minister of Great Britain.

But at about the same time were lost two sister ships, the "Prince David" and the "Prince Robert." They were hailed as "the embodiment of everything that is the latest in ship construction," with luxurious accommodation for 374 first-class passengers. All three went to war and played a prominent part in the invasion of Europe.

WOMEN IN AIR TRAVEL
A survey by the Air Transport Association at Washington reveals that women hold one-third of all jobs in United States civil aviation and that 20 per cent. of air line passengers are of the weaker sex. There are 8,000 stewardesses, but women are almost every phase of the industry except actual flying of planes and their number is constantly increasing.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

REMEMBER THE DATE

Ned Norton fell fine. He was getting home early for change—it was only fifteen minutes to six. The late afternoon was crisply sunny with spring. Business was good, the office was humming, and he was in love with his wife—a neat number named Blaire.

In addition to all that, he had sort of a minor romance. Not exactly a romance, either, because there was nothing serious on either his or the distaff side. Still, there was something intensely pleasant about getting into the elevator at noon without knowing whether Miss Hathaway was the person who had rung the down button on the fifth floor. Sometimes it was; sometimes it wasn't.

But when it was she who stepped on the elevator, Ned unconsciously gripped her shoulders while an inner tocsin began to ring. Nothing to it, really, he tried to tell himself—ignoring the warping in his heart.

Certainly, he had superb auburn hair; of course he liked to have the boys at the office chuckle afterward. "You certainly did sit opposite a nice dish this noon, Neddy old pal." How about giving a bachelor a break and taking me along some day?"

He could almost hear his ego purr. "Just an old friend of the family," he'd say, grinning. And back into the recesses of his mind marked "oblivion" he would tuck a haunting memory of the way he had felt when a tendrill of her perfume had floated past his nostrils; also of the way she sometimes looked up at him nowadays. It was all quite innocent, really.

So Ned Norton felt fine as he slammed the gate and scraped his feet fully before entering the service porch, not because his shoes were soiled but because this was another of the small-boy habits he had brought intact from a dominated childhood. Perhaps Miss Hathaway and his life's only rebellion against maternal and wifely authority. A rather fragile rebellion at that, he thought.

"Hi, beautiful!" he called when the closed kitchen door brought no treble shout of greeting. He waited then sang out, "Come out, come out wherever you are."

Still no answer. That was odd. Blaire never planned to be away in the afternoon without telling him in minute detail where she was going and how long she would be gone.

Wandering into the living room, Ned found a chair on top of the lounge, and a vase topping the chair. In the vase was a note. That was Blaire for you: leave a note, and let it with so much emphasis that no one on earth could miss it.

Ned was laughing silently as he unfolded the page and glanced at the ornate backhand: "Darling: I love you with all my heart, but sometimes I wonder how you feel about me. I'm going away a little while to find out." Blaire."

Ned turned the note over and studied the blank opposite side as if he had come across an anagram whose answer would be found on the reverse. Then he returned to the script and read it again. Yes, it was exactly the same as it had been on first perusal.

This was fantastic. It was unbelievable. Blaire—leaving him. What for?

They had had their arguments of course—who didn't? The overdrawn household account month before last, for instance. He had been rather caustic about it, he remembered. "Either you live within the budget, or I'll handle all the finances," he had threatened.

Blaire had pouted for a day, then had fun saving back the overdraft by feeding him fantastically cheap meals for a week. Good, though.

Warm-hearted and sentimental; prankish and full of laughter—that was Blaire.

Abruptly, Ned sat down in the nearest chair as perspiration broke out on his forehead. He had seen him talk to Miss Hathaway to lunch four times last week. Someone had been dog enough to tell Blaire. And Blaire, hot-head that she was, had walked out on him without even a request for explanation!

Now that he thought of it, the thing would have been difficult to explain. How could a man say, April is in my blood. I'm a victim of spring. No, that wouldn't do. Silently, he began cursing himself as a fool.

Well, he'd have to do something.

Dialing savagely, he called the station to check on northbound trains. Then he called the airport on the chance that Blaire had taken it big.

He hung up in the middle of a series of frantic questions when he heard a suppressed chortle behind him. "Did I scare you?" giggled Blaire.

With one powerful gesture Ned gathered her into his arms and kissed her as he hadn't since honeymoon days. "What . . . in . . . the . . . world . . ." he murmured between kisses.

"April Fool! April Fool! Oh, Ned, if you could have seen your face! You looked as guilty as Jack the Ripper."

For an instant Ned was angry from his damp forehead to his chilly feet. He had an urge to turn her over, kiss her knees and give her a royal spanking. Yet—if it hadn't been for his preoccupation with Miss Hathaway, he would have seen through Blaire's April First stunt instantly. Maybe this was simply one of life's stop lights.

"The next time you pull a stunt like that," he said severely, "we're going to can your trousers. But tonight I'll take you out to dinner—and that's no April fool joke."

Reconstruction Work In Liberated
Europe Is Tremendous Task

It is estimated that it will take two years to rebuild the Ludendorff bridge at Remagen, over which the Allied forces in the west made their first crossing of the Rhine but which had since been wrecked as a result of enemy action. The estimate of two years to rebuild this one bridge gives some idea of the tremendous task of reconstruction which awaits Europe. In the liberated lands there is a vast deal of work to be done. This is perhaps especially true in war-torn Poland, Russia, Belgium and Holland.

Has spring fever hit your household? If so, appetites are apt to be finicky. For that we prescribe a change. A change of scenery in your menu!

Your family is accustomed to finding their breakfast cereal in the bowl. Surprise them some morning soon and serve that cereal in muffin form. This is a good way to add whole grains which taste so good with milk make a grand basis for a flaky muffin. They can be stirred up in a jiffy and baked in two muffin tins.

A Letter of Appreciation to the many friends of Wrigley's Spearmint,
Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" Chewing Gum

WRIGLEY'S
CHEWING GUM MANUFACTURERS

We want to thank all the people here at home for the fine spirit of understanding shown us since we sold you the gum for as long as possible, all the very best gum we could make would go only to our Armed Forces overseas and at sea.

With this in mind, and so that there can be no misunderstanding, we want you to know that we have now wound up all our pre-war ingredients and that we've stopped making the well known trade-marked brands of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and "Juicy Fruit" even for the Armed Forces overseas.

There will be no more chewing gum of these three famous brands and flavors for anyone until we can again make gum worthy of these three trade-marked labels, which have always been your guarantee of uniform, finest quality and flavor.

Until we can bring back Wrigley standard chewing gum to help take care of both military and civilian needs. We are storing this gum to the public only on its own merit and for that reason it is not associated with any Wrigley standard brand but has its own brand name and flavor.

A Significant Name

Japanese Empire Founded in Yamato Province in 660 B.C.

The name Yamato has a deep, almost religious significance for the Japanese. The Associated Press recalls in connection with the sinking of the battleship Yamato.

Japanese battleships are named for the provinces of old Japan. These names do not appear on most maps since the old provinces have given way to new ones.

Yamato was on the peninsula just south of Osaka. It was there, according to legend, that the first Emperor, Jimmu, founded the Japanese empire in 660 B.C. From Yamato the ancestors of the modern Japanese apparently spread out to conquer the other islands.

Yamato therefore is the ancient name for Japan itself. The Japanese call themselves the Yamato race, and impute to the name all the martial virtues they believe themselves to possess.

The Yamato was 900 feet long, of 45,000 tons, carried 16-inch guns and was capable of a speed of thirty knots. Roughly equivalent to the American 45,000-ton Iowa, both are nearly as long and squat as ships in this category. Both of them must get their first growth while the weather is cool and moist; otherwise they would develop sunburn.

One can hardly get the new lawn or the old lawn to grow, of course; one is more than the other. The soil is thoroughly prepared and the ground level before the seed is sown. The last caution naturally applies to new lawns more than patching.

Other early vegetables that will stand some frost better than others are radish and lettuce. Among the flowers are cosmos, marigolds etc. There had been two ships of this class in the Japanese Navy. Her sister ship, the Musashi, was sunk in the Second Battle of the Philippines Sea last October.

GARDEN NOTES

Flowers Have a Place

Home-grown flowers cannot be considered as a luxury. The real gardener will find a place for them. To him the growing of beautiful flowers is more than just hobby or recreation. It satisfies his natural desire to create something with his own hands and out of his own brain—it provides a tonic for the spirit and nerves. The cost in labor and materials is negligible. A few packets of seeds and a little time and a small garden will bring a lot and even a heavy snowfall or a week's return of winter after planting will not hurt them.

Regulations require that all books be returned immediately after March 31st of each year. Anyone still in possession of last year's book should contact the employment and selective service office for renewal.
